The Great Bear

@ The Old Bear, Cobham

03/10/2017

A rather nice comical start to this run as we waited outside the pub, wondering if Great Bear was going to start it from the carpark, which was recommended, as parking at the pub was limited. Dilemma solved, Himself appeared, flour in hand, and ushering us off down an alleyway. Torches invaluable now, fully charged too, so remember to give your batteries a boost ! We wound our way round the plush backwoods of the Cobham private estates, some mighty fine houses on view, and there's us with a torch ! Dodgy, but our trainers gave us a quick escape from any dogs. Tonight, Top Man & Naked Chef in town, Pussy Galore, Spanish Mistress & Sodden Assets smiling away, Hash Cash Sausage happily in tow, so too Mother Brown & Private Parts, good to see you All ! Lord Tosser and Wasser gone awol. Where we ask ? Ard'on Provocateur manages to get to the pub easily enough. Megabit sporting a new razorshort haircut, must be cold up top ? Worzel taking up prime checking duties, even Dingaling getting in on the act a few times. A quite fabulous 5.54mile route laid down by Great Bear, all the way to the Esher bypass and back along the Portsmouth road, as we came closer to town. Super loop round behind the Sainsbury's garage before diving across the road into the undergrowth, all the way back to the church. Super ! The pub, well, nice staff, Black Sheep beer from North Yorkshire, and bloody expensive lager, but the decor was good, just need a mortgage to stay regularly at the bar. Hash Cash identified a red Ford Thunderbird on Dingaling's phone, and Colonel Knob Cheese, good to see you, upbeat as usual ! What has happened to Bare Bear's ?... we hope you are well now, and will join us very soon. Autumn is definitely here, a misty evening, but most enjoyable in this company, so see you next week.. On On, don't miss it

KungFooPanda

@ Jolly Farmer, Weybridge

10/10/2017

A nice friendly pub in a quiet residential street, was our treat for this week's run. A great group of chatterboxes turned up for this Autumnal fitness evening, with some even forgetting to bring torches, I ask you ! Kung Foo Panda contrived to create a wonderful run, which apparently was 4 and a half miles, but our dear 'Smart Arse' Megabit was pleased as punch to have done almost 6, walking from home in Addlestone, enabling him to drink alcohol ! Our run had many delightful little twists and turns, and we navigated our way alongside the River Wey, and near to Coxes Lock built in 1651, the oldest and deepest, on the River Wey

Navigation. near to the bridge which gave Weybridge it's name. It was jointly owned in 1086 by Chertsey Abbey and William the Conqueror's brother, the Bishop of Bayeux, it stayed only a small village, making flour, and nurseries until the late 18th century. Tonight was great fun, Lord Tosser, Wasser, The Pro, and even Master Bates came out to enjoy themselves, minus his torch. During the run, Dingaling saw Pussy Galore in pink, and Kerry in orange racing along together, and said they looked like a couple of Opal Fruits.....quick as a flash.....steady...Kerry replied....'Made to make your mouth water' ha ha ha. Kebab got fixated by one of the checks, which he thought looked good ! Hey ho..... Dingaling thought that our GM Doner could have brought her lovely horse, Laurel along for the ride tonight, which was great fun, only where soft underfoot, of course. Once back to the pub, the rain came down, but we did not care, crisp packets were flying everywhere, with Cornish Ales to drink, as this pub is run by a chain that has pubs in Salisbury and Bristol. The staff were very welcoming, and the pub steeped in the history of Weybridge of old, a nice touch. Another great Weybridge Hash night, see ya next week,.... On On !

1747 TopMan & Naked Chef @ The Limping Fox, Long Ditton 17/10/2017

Another adventurous evening, with the Weybridge Hashers, started out with a game of hide and seek with the local ...real fox, as it was scavenging around for food. Should have come for our chips later ! Kebab weaved in and around a lorry before capturing foxy on film. This was some run, taking in all of Thames Ditton, 6 miles plus checks, into the village, through the Churchyard down towards the railway station, and then through Weston Green, near to the Scilly Isles, and cutting back into the woods, before Thames Ditton green, then off again through some clever paths, and through Stokes Field, winding nicely back along Ewell Road, and left to the new Pub, only open since July 2017. Lots of our Regulars were on their jolly hols, but we did still have fun, on this slightly longer than normal run, which built up our appetite for beer and chips ! Mother Brown has one more week with us, before returning to Australia for his next 6 months travelling, lucky man. Once in the freshly painted green pub, we topped ourselves up, and tucked into every bowl in sight, even the tasty potato skins. Wasser was not impressed with the décor, said it was too dark. Things turned medical, as the beer flowed, Wasser explained his Limping Fox got excited at the Doctor's surgery, ooh eerrrr ! Some excuse he had to go in for a test !! Mrs Robinson was already in the pub, with guest John, good to see you both. The Publican Phil, and staff Paige were very friendly, and the food menu we will have to come back for, another time. The pub has been transformed from the dowdy look of old. Hash Cash Sausage, was grinning away, having just scoffed the last Krispy Kreme doughnut that Kebab kindly brought 4 of, to share, thanks a lot ! A quality run from Top Man & Naked Chef !!

1748 Wasser @ Poyntz Arms, East Molesey 24/10/2017

The traffic lights were blocking all the traffic as we arrived outside this freshly refurbished Molesey haunt, and quite a healthy gathering too ! Megabit came with wife Charlotte, as it is half term week, Mother Brown appeared for the last time for 6 months, as he goes off to Melbourne till the Spring. We will miss your cheery disposition ! Colonel Knob Cheese, ever enthusiastic, had piled up here at 3pm, as no point going all the way home to Basingstoke, and coming back ! Molesey Matt returned, good to see you too ! Our GM Doner brought terrier Jack out for some easy exercise which he loved ! Kung Foo Panda, Great Bear, Lord Tosser, Top Man & Naked Chef were just some of the Stars here this week. The Run, oh yes.....off through residential roads until a cracking long alley that took us all the way to the River Thames, and then he tricked us well, as we thought we would be bound to go along the Thames riverbank, oh no, Wasser always surprises ! Cutting right back, round The Hurst swimming pool and somehow winding it's way back towards Ray road, and off towards the river Mole on the other side of Molesey instead, bravo ! Whilst Megabit thinks it half decent, it is fair to say it was a lot better run than that, constantly weaving back on itself, almost always unexpectedly too. A clever Run, much appreciated, just under five miles, ideal in the Winter months, and into the new look pub, where while we were guzzling pints of Spitfire and lager, our Jack was making friends with the pub dog, Bell the Harrier, who is more used to chasing Hares and Foxes round farms.

Hash Cash Sausage, eagerly devouring the excellent chips from the Chinese opposite, thanks Wasser, nearly had his rollocks bitten off, as Bell was snouting for more free chips between his legs ! Close shave Sausage ...ouch Now remember, next week.....it's Halloween so dress up and drive to Ripley for a spooky run in the darkyou wouldn't want to miss it ! Scooby-Doothe Monster Mash.....woohoo it's a graveyard smash
